Greetings gents, attached is my revised draft final report, based on your comments/suggestions and my doing some data analyses on changes in cricket consumption and in salamander body weights. I hope you find it in much better shape now, but let me know of any problems/concerns you find. I am also sending it to one of our research staff, Rick Mauldin, for review. He has considerable experience with reptiles and played a big role in our anticoagulant-reptile hazard study. Later, Gary
